

MT. STERLING ADVOCATE.

VOLUME XXXI.

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1922.

NUMBER 38.

Tuesday's "Doings" In State Legislature

The house had a warm fight over C. Duffy's bill (H. B. 251), removing the chiropractors from the supervision of the state board of health, which finally passed 44 to 42 in one of the closest battles of the session. It lasted all afternoon and followed a speech by Dr. A. T. McCormack, of the board of health, opposing the measure.

In the senate, Frank E. Daugherty introduced a resolution providing for a report from the state board of health of its receipts and expenditures.

H. V. Bell's bill (S. B. 104), which defines newspapers and job printing establishments in Kentucky the same way they are regarded by the federal law, as manufacturing plants, passed the senate 33 to 1. Senator Pal Gardner, Breckinridge county, was the only opponent of the measure. Senators Reynolds, Hubbard, Baker and Auxier were absent.

By a vote of 31 to 0 the senate passed R. C. Simmons' bill extending the law making child desertion a felony to desertion of a wife about to become a mother. The senate also passed Representative Brodie Payne's bill authorizing an increase of salary for the secretary of the library commission 31 to 1, Senator Lee voting in the negative.

R. C. Simmons' bill permitting police judges of second-class cities to nominate their temporary substitutes passed 22 to 0. Allen Points' bill amending the law regarding bank deposits, passed 23 to 1. William Wallace's bill continuing the Kentucky council of defense for two more years, to complete records of Kentuckians in the world war, passed 30 to 0.

The senate passed Representative Lee Clark's bill to relieve women in school districts from payment of poll tax 28 to 1, Senator White opposing it.

The house passed House Bill 87, allowing appointment of police judges in fourth-class cities, and House Bill 264, changing the time of holding court in the Wolfe-Morgan-Magoffin district.

Senator Brig Harris' bill, providing for the creation of two new normal schools, one in eastern, the other in western Kentucky, was passed by the house, by an overwhelming vote, after an amendment offered by Lester Jeter, of Lincoln county, had been adopted, 60 to 28. This amendment provides for the creation of a commission to locate the two institutions, five to be named by the speaker, three by the president pro tem of the senate and two by the lieutenant governor.

When the rules committee called up Senator Bill's bill in the senate, the author spoke on the need for the measure. He read from income tax rulings to show how business is defined by the federal government.

Senator Garner spoke in opposition to the bill.

Senator Daugherty said that a newspaper and job printing estab-

LITTLE GIRL DIES

Bessie Bennett, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Bennett, died at the home of her parents on the Grassy Lick pike on Thursday of influenza. Interment took place in Machpelah cemetery on Friday afternoon. The entire family has been confined to their beds with the disease. The little girl was a bright and beautiful child, the pleasure of the household and her death caused a deep shadow in the home. The sympathy of everyone goes out to the grief-stricken family in their trouble.

lishment is a manufacturing plant, and should be so defined. Senator Harris inquired if newspapers do not print and bind books, in many cases. Mr. Daugherty replied "yes," and said that there are many county seats in Kentucky without any newspaper. He said the country editor is in close touch with the people, and "is an upbuilder of his community. He chides us for our errors and when we are deserving he makes a note of it. Under many discouragements, he plies a calling of great value to the country side."

Senator H. E. Green said that many newspapers also bind books, abstracts, etc., and that in this, as well as their function of publishers, they are manufacturers. "I also call your attention," he added, "to the educational feature involved. Many counties now have but one little printing press. It is struggling for existence. Many have died of the hard times. Paper and labor costs are so high, as well as machinery, that some have had to quit the business. When that happens, it is a stroke at the educational facilities of that community. No one is going to be made rich by this bill, but it will save many a struggling plant."

Endorse School Bond Issue

We, the members of the Board of Directors of the Woman's History Club, in executive session assembled, do hereby express ourselves as heartily in favor of the bond issue for the public schools of Mt. Sterling, to be voted on March 4th. We believe that the future welfare of the children of Mt. Sterling is largely dependent on this measure, as the present crowded condition of almost every room makes the best work impossible. We will not only vote for it, but use our influence as far as possible, as a matter of civic pride.

Signed:

THE BEST

There are comparative degrees, good, better and best, and I am possessed with the knowledge, and experimental knowledge, that we, the people of Montgomery county, have a hospital, the Mary Chiles, that is superlative in every respect. I have been at the Jewish hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, a hospital said to be in a class to itself; I have been at the St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, another of high class, and from these I could not lessen their high standard; they are good, but what I want to say now is that I am just from the Mary Chiles hospital and I want to testify as to the superiority in every department. First, I want to testify as to the quietness, as to the superior management, as to cleanliness and the absence of the hospital odor; there it is the patient gets perfect ventilation, prompt answer to every electric summons, and that by a professional nurse. Just let me add in this connection that all the nurses are graduate trained nurses, as near perfection in their profession as it is possible to be. The fare is wholesome and palatable and with everything that goes with the hospital it has a scientific touch. Enthusiastic in the praise of the Mary Chiles hospital? I am, but not too much so, for it is a rest place for the sick that receives the best of attention and is in every way superlative.

MRS. ELIZA TREADWAY

PASSES INTO BEYOND

Mrs. Eliza Treadway, aged 85 years, relict of Mark Treadway, died yesterday of paralysis. She is survived by three sons, Clay, of Lexington; Richard and James, of this county; and one daughter, Miss Elizabeth, also of this county. The funeral was conducted today at her late home by Rev. J. S. Ragan and burial was in the Reed burying ground. Mrs. Treadway was a consecrated Christian woman, devoting her life to serving others; a devoted mother, and truly a woman whose years of faithful service is worthy of emulation. Her earthly labors are over, but her many acts of kindly ministrations to others will live in the hearts of those whom she loved and for whom she gave the best that she had to give.

THERE IS A REASON

The reason of the great increase of family washing at the Mt. Sterling Laundry is significant. Their process is strictly sanitary; they are prompt in gathering and delivering and with the caution practiced there is no way for contagious diseases to spread. Our growth is wonderful and we give our system the credit. We assure our people that we appreciate their patronage and stand pledged to give satisfaction as nearly perfect as is possible.

Georgetown Refuses to Accept Hill Resignation

At a meeting of the executive committee of Georgetown College Sunday resolutions were adopted urging withdrawal of the resignation of Dr. John L. Hill as professor of history and dean of the faculty. Dr. Hill has been invited to accept a position with the Sunday School board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Dean Hill, who has been dean of Georgetown College since 1913, tendered his resignation to Dr. Adams to accept the editorial secretaryship of the book and tract department of the Sunday School board of the Southern Baptist Convention, with headquarters at Nashville.

The resolution of the committee expressed the highest appreciation of Dean Hill's "services as teacher and dean, his loyal devotion to all the interests of the college, the local church, and the wider denominational affairs of the state, and his lofty Christian ideals exemplified in his daily life before the student body and the community at large."

The resolutions were signed by M. B. Adams, G. H. Nunneley, J. W. Thacker, George T. Hambrick, F. W. Eberhardt and W. E. Browning.

READ EVERY AD IN THIS ISSUE

J. R. Lyons has an advertisement in this issue that should remind every tobacco raiser that the time is on for making preparations for tobacco beds. In order to have a fine crop of tobacco it must be started with strong plants and strong plants come from such fertilized beds. In J. R. Lyons' advertisement this week is some timely, sensible talk.
